

COL Michael J. McMahon

Director, CJ7 (Force Integration and Training),
Combined Security Transition Command-
Afghanistan (CSTC-A)

Commissioned in 1981 as a US Army infantry officer from the United States Military Academy, COL Mike McMahon has served in command and staff positions in every level from infantry platoon through combatant command and Department of the Army. He commanded infantry units in the 25th Infantry Division (twice), 101st Airborne Division, and the 1st Infantry Division. He also served as Operations and/or Plans Officer at battalion, brigade, division, COCOM, and Joint Task Force level. He is currently on the staff and faculty at the US Army War College, with temporary duty for the past year in his second combat tour in Afghanistan. He leads the Force Integration and Training Directorate of CSTC-A, responsible for planning, programming, coordinating and executing the fielding of all Afghan National Army and Afghan National Police forces.

